The Fahrney-Keedy Memorial Home for the Aged is located on the east side of Maryland Route 66 at San Mar about two miles north of Boonsboro in Washington County, Maryland. The older section of the complex of buildings faces northwest while a large modern addition has a southern exposure.

The Home is made up of sections dating from various periods. Apparently the earliest building included within the complex is a five-bay, two-story brick building bearing the date 1879. The structure has received alterations during later periods. A vertical seam in the brickwork along its north side distinguishes it from the adjoining section which extends to the north.

The brick walls are laid in common bond above cut limestone foundations. Flat brick arches are present over the doors and windows. A date stone set in the west corner of the front elevation carries the names L. W. and A. E. Fahrney and the date 1879. The windows are elongated and contain two-over-two pane sashes with the top panes forming an arch. The six-panel door is surrounded by rectangular transom holding two panes forming a low segmental arch; narrow side lights flank the opening.

A four-bay, one-story porch extends from the entrance north to include part of the adjoining section.

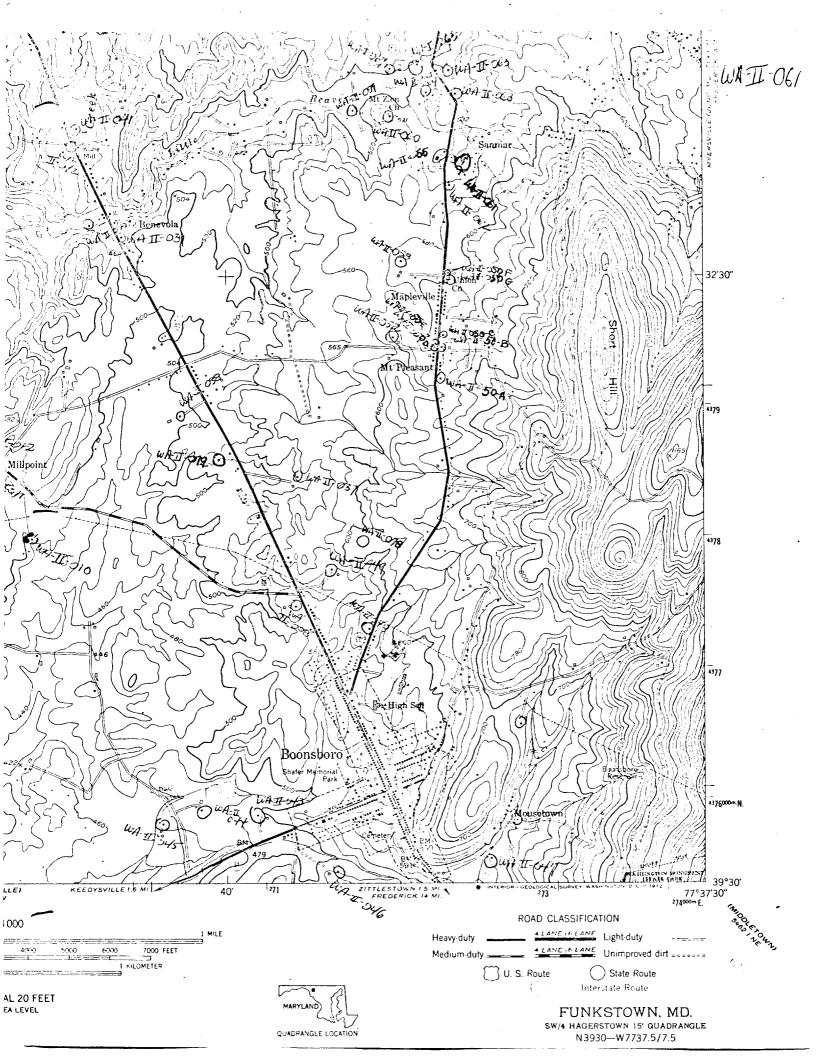

The low hipped roof over the structure is finished with a simple frieze and cornice.

Also on the property is a small log building covered with wooden siding. Situated close to the road, it is marked as Doctor Peter Fahrney's laboratory. The one-and-a-half story structure has nine-over-six light windows and is two bays in width with its gable end facing the road. A large brick exterior chimney is located at the east gable end. Wooden shingles cover the roof.

The property contains about 80 acres.
